Have you ever...

Looked for a new place to live:

Trying to schedule
with a landlord forever?

Paying too much rent for too little?

Moving into a new city?

Looked for a new person to live with:

Tired of no-shows
or flaky replies?

Got a spare room
but no reliable match?

Wish you could choose who lives in your home?

So why is this still so messy?

Finding someone to live with shouldn't feel like a dating app mixed with spam and awkward house tours.

But it does.

There's no single platform that matches people based on how they actually live: their habits, preferences, and lifestyle.

Until now.

Here's how we make it better!

RooMatch is like a dating app — but for finding the perfect roommate.

We match people based on what really matters:
lifestyle, preferences, and habits.

No more endless scrolling.

No guessing.

Just smart, human-centered matching.

Because matching should be based on how you live — not just what you look like on paper.

Alright, enough talking

let's see how it actually works...
